

A DAY'S WEDDINGS.

and seated supper for 100 guests at the Hotel Savoy.

Carey—Jewett.

The wedding of Miss Mary Seymour Jewett, daughter of the Rev. Edward Hurst Jewett, and George Carey of Baltimore took place at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the Church of the Transfiguration, and was followed by a small reception at the residence of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Wilmot Townsend Cox. The bride's father and the Rev. Neilson Poe Carey, a cousin of the bridegroom, performed the ceremony. The church was simply but effectively decorated with vases of white sweet peas and daisies.

Miss Sophie Seymour Jewett, the bride's sister, was her maid of honor. She was in white tucked chiffon over white silk, and wore a black picture hat, plume trimmed, and carried white daisies. The bridesmaids, who were the Misses Maria Potter, Katharine S. Jewett, a sister of the bride; Elizabeth Cushman, Natica Thurber, Cornelia Ward of Washington, and Alice Weil of Philadelphia, were gowned in yellow chiffon over yellow silk and carried yellow daisies. Their hats were like that of the maid of honor and their frocks were made in the same fashion.

The bride was in white satin, a long, plain gown with full sweeping train. The bodice front was draped with white chiffon and point lace, and her tulle veil was fastened with orange blossoms. Her uncle H. S. Miller gave her away.

Rutgers Bleecker Jewett was Mr. Carey's best man, and the ushers were Henry Seymour Jewett, William A. Evans, Robert S. Huse, James Johnston, James F. Mitchell, George C. Morrison, and Wilmost Griffis, the last three of Baltimore.

Wright—Wolfe.

In St. George's Church, on Stuyvesant Square, at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, the wedding of J. Butler Wright, son of Mrs. C. R. Wright, and Miss Maude A. Wolfe, a daughter of Mrs. Christopher Wolfe of Tuxedo Park, was celebrated, the Rev. Dr. Rainsford officiating. The church itself was simply decorated with vases of pink roses placed on the altar.

The bride was gowned in a princess robe of white satin, the bodice front being trimmed with a plastron of point lace. There was a long tulle veil and a short three-cornered one of point lace arranged over it.

Miss Mary E. Wolfe was her sister's maid of honor. She was frocked in white crepe de chine simply made and wore a large white hat trimmed with chiffon and a white ostrich plume that ran nearly all the way around the brim, and she carried pink roses.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Sibyl Kane and Marie Louise Gibson of Tuxedo, Miss Beatrice Crosby, Miss Mary E. Simons, and Miss Edythe P. Jones. They were in white mousseline gowns over pale green silk. These gowns were tucked and had insertions of cream-colored file lace and green chiffon on the bodices. The moderately large black hats were straw trimmed, with ostrich plumes and black moire ribbon. They carried large round bunches of maidenhair and farleyence ferns tied with green gauze ribbons.

Marshall Geer was Mr. Wright's best man, and the ushers were Cornelius R. Agnew, H. Mercer Walker, Edward Leavitt Howe, and Stanton Whitney.

Spear—Wing.

Miss Lillian Wing, the daughter of Mrs. Charles Tudor Wing, was married at the residence of her mother yesterday afternoon to Lawrence Yorke Spear. It was a military wedding. The bride also added novelty to the occasion by choosing all married women as her attendants. Her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Matthew Nicoll, and the bride's matrons were Mrs. George M. Magoun, Mrs. De Witt Clinton Flanigan, Mrs. Henry C. Kerr, and Mrs. W. Gustav Triest.

The bride entered the drawing room, where the ceremony was performed, alone. She was given away by her mother. Her gown was white liberty satin and chiffon, with trimmed lace applique, and the stock and sleeves of the same. Her veil was of tulle, held by orange blossoms, and her bouquet was of lilies of the valley. Mrs. Nicoll was in white mousseline de sole and lace over satin, and the other attendants wore pink liberty satin and chiffon. All had large hats trimmed with daisies, and carried baskets of flowers.

The best man was Lieut. William M. Buck, United States Navy, commander of the President's yacht, the Sylph, and the ushers Capt. Sydney A. Coleman, United States Army; Lieut. Merriweather L. Walker, United States Navy, and Francis Drake Potter and Elijah Woodward. The best man and the naval and military ushers wore their uniforms.

The drawing room was decorated with white roses.

Borgia-Valenti—Young-Valenti.

A double wedding took place at St. Patrick's Cathedral last evening, and the great church was filled. The brides were Miss Adele Valenti, who was married to Dominico Borgia, and Miss Olympia Valenti, who became the wife of William J. Young of Danbury, Conn. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Orazio Valenti. Miss Adele Valenti entered the church on the arm of her father, and Miss Olympia Valenti was escorted to the altar by her eldest brother, Frank Valenti. The Rev. Dr. Ferranti of the cathedral parish and the Rev. Father Henry Lynch of Danbury, Conn., officiated.

The brides were dressed alike in white satin, trimmed with point lace. Their veils were of tulle, and they wore diamond crescents. They carried bunches of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Adele Valenti had as maid of honor her sister, Miss Julia Valenti, and Miss Margaret Young, a sister of the bridegroom, was the attendant of Miss Olympia Valenti. The bridesmaids were Miss Florence Corvan, Miss Victoria Cavagnaro, Miss Marie Armstrong, and Miss Dolly Young. The bridesmaids wore white crepe de chine, trimmed with lace and chiffon, and picture hats of white lace and tulle. Each carried a large cluster of American Beauty roses.

Pasquale Simonelli was Mr. Borgia's best man. William Downs of Yonkers acted in the same capacity for his cousin, Mr. Young. The ushers were Edward Young, Egidio Valenti, John Cavagnaro, and Thomas Durnin.

After the ceremony there was a reception
